

CANCELLATION AND REFUND POLICY

Our Cancellation and Refund Policy sets out clear guidelines for managing subscription cancellations, withdrawals, deferrals, and refunds. It ensures transparency, fairness, and flexibility for learners while safeguarding the integrity of our programmes and subscription model. The policy applies to all monthly, annual, and deferred subscribers, with specific provisions depending on subscription type, timing of cancellation, and regional consumer protection laws. Learners are encouraged to review the policy carefully before making changes to their subscription.

CANCELLATION AND REFUND POLICY

This policy is reviewed periodically and any updates will be published on this website, effective upon posting. For significant changes, we may also notify you directly or highlight the update prominently.

We understand that unforeseen circumstances may arise that lead to a learner's decision to cancel their application or enrollment. To ensure that this process is handled smoothly and fairly, we have established a clear set of guidelines and procedures for cancellations and refunds.

This policy outlines the terms, conditions, and procedures regarding the cancellation of a subscription and access to the platform, providing flexibility to learners while ensuring continuity and integrity in their learning experience.

The policy applies to all subscribers who have enrolled in and gained access to the platform under the all-access subscription model. Specifically, it includes:

- Monthly Subscribers: Individuals who pay a recurring monthly fee for access.
- Annual Subscribers: Individuals who pay an upfront annual fee for a full year's access.
- Deferred or Suspended Subscribers: Users who have temporarily suspended or deferred their access, as outlined in the policy.

The policy does not apply to:

- Users who have not yet subscribed or completed their registration.
- Individuals accessing free content or promotional access without a subscription.
